C. W. Lahmann's 40th Anniversary Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Lahmann were honored in observance of their 40th wedding anniversary at a reception Sunday afternoon in the Marley church.

Mrs. Lahmann wore a corsage of red roses on her print dress as she and her husband greeted the many guests who came from Milwaukee, Wis. Beverly Hills, Worth, Goodings Grove, Joliet, Mokena and Marley. The oldest guest was Mr. Henry Tilsy, who was also present at the wedding 40 years ago.

Guests were seated at long tables decorated in rose and white. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the guests of honor's table.

Mr. Russell Lauffer was master of ceremonies and presented the program. He led the group in the singing of some of the old favorite songs, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "In the Good Old Summer Time" and "Put on Your Old Grey Bonnet." A roll call was taken of folks who attended the wedding forty years ago. Each responded by telling something that they remembered about the wedding. A letter of congratulations was read from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gee of St. David, Arizona.

A mock wedding in pantomime was presented by a group of little folks. As several piano selections, including the wedding march, were played by little Alma Lauffer, the little bride party took their places before Bobby Stellwagon, who acted as minister. The sweet little bride, attired in a white gown and veil, was Betty Jean Stellwagon. Her bridesmaid was Joan Stellwagon, dressed in a peach taffeta gown and tiny Jean Louise Lauffer, also in a peach taffeta gown, was the flower girl. The groom was Charles Lauffer and the best man John Stellwagon.

After the program, which ended with a group song, "God Be With You," refreshments were served by a committee of Mrs. Russell Lauffer, Mrs. Harwood Stellwagon, Miss Marion Handorf, Mrs. George Yapp, Miss Marie Bruhn, Mrs. Loren Sass, Miss Doris Handorf, and Miss Ethel Handorf. Mrs. Lauffer wore an apron which Mrs. Alice Froemke had worn at the wedding forty years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Lahmann received many beautiful gifts, flowers and cards. The Lahmanns have resided on their farm home on Maple road for the entire forty years of their married life. They are active in the affairs of the Marley church and of the community.

Supt. Cherry Says: "Keep Your Eye On The Ball"—And "Create New Frontiers"

"Keep your eye on the ball, in relation to the field it's in—whether it be in your personal life, your community, your state or national and international affairs." This was the keynote of the address, given by Mr. J. H. Cherry at the Marley Farm Life banquet in the Marley church, Wednesday night, March 16. Mr. Cherry spoke on the position of the United States in the world today and what the American people can do to make it a peaceable position.

"We, the United States, are no longer sitting on the bleachers. We've been pushed out into the playing field. England's navy, which served as a shock line, while we prepared for war, is no more. Germany has fallen and Japan is eliminated, leaving us wide open to absorb the first blows of any future attacks. We feel we have the upperhand because of our atom bombs. Why keep our eyes on Russia? Any one of the other countries in the world who would be able to set up a stock pile of atom bombs and have a means of delivering them first would have the power to control the world."

Mr. Cherry continued to say, "The white race is 25% of the population in the world. The other races are starting to develop their vast natural resources. Our resources are depleting. We now need oil from Arabia and mineral wealth from Canada to carry on our atomic research. So we are awakening to the fact that we must learn to live with other people instead of making them live with us."

Narrowly Escaped Death While Flying A Kite Last Sunday

Don Hill, 13 years old, of Lincoln Estates, was injured last Sunday afternoon while flying a kite.

He used a copper wire to fly his kite instead of the usual string. In some way the copper wire became entangled with a high power line which knocked Don to the ground. The current was so strong that it started to pick him up again, but just at that moment the power burned thru the wire, breaking it apart, which saved the life of the young boy. The accident knocked him unconscious, and his companions, Sammy Gentry and Paul Blaylock, made attempts to help him.

As the kite flying was close to his home, corner 79th street and Lincoln highway, his mother came to his aid at once. He was rushed to St. James hospital in Chicago Heights where severe burns on his hands and on one leg were treated.

Don was able to return home Monday where he is said to be recuperating nicely.

An Open Letter

The members of the South New Lenox Improvement association would like to thank the business people of New Lenox, the VFW Harry E. Anderson Post, and others for their kind and wonderful contributions for the aid of the George Wheeler, Jr. family of New Lenox. This organization would further like to thank the township of Mokena and Frankfort and the city of Joliet for their kind donations and help in this recent disaster.

It would be humanly impossible to thank each and every one of you good people for your donations of money and clothing. However it seems only fitting and proper to say here and now that it was a grand display of that good old American way of doing something at once for a stricken neighbor in need.

Besides clothing that has been collected and furniture promised, the total amount of cash presented to Mr. Wheeler for his family was $517.50. This should make all of you feel good and the George Wheeler family is very grateful to you.

A special thank you is in order for the good housewives of New Lenox who baked and presented all the wonderful cakes for the card party Saturday night, March 19. Many thanks are also in order for Bert Mattson, Edith Gay, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Robinson, Mrs. Betty Hitz, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Jedlick, Keith Hossack, Stanley Gilmore, Mrs. Lou Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wheeler. If anyone has been neglected in these thank you offerings—most humble apologies. It most certainly was not intentional. So once again thank you, and may good luck be with you always.

THE SOUTH NEW LENOX
IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

LAST RITES FOR CHARLES PFEIFER THIS AFTERNOON

Charles Pfeifer, 69, resident of Frankfort for many years, passed away in his sleep in his home in Joliet Monday night.

Mr. Pfeifer, who had not been well for several years, suffered a heart attack last November which confined him to bed for several weeks. He recovered from that and has been doing real well since, almost continuously under a doctor's care. Mrs. Pfeifer had been away from home a few hours Monday evening, and upon her return found he was in bed and asleep. As he did not respond to her when she spoke, she surmised he was not well, and called for help at once. The Joliet fire department inhalator squad responded and worked over him 20 minutes to no avail.

Mr. Pfeifer was born on a farm at Richton, near Matteson. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pfeifer. When a young lad he moved with his parents to a farm near Frankfort. He became interested in the E.J.E. railroad which ran in that vicinity, and applied for a job with that company. He worked himself up to section foreman.

June 6, 1906 he was united in marriage with Miss Bertha Schweser of Mokena and went to housekeeping in the village of Frankfort, where they lived until 15 years ago when they moved to Joliet after he was made assistant roadmaster of the E.J.E. He was in September 1939 he was promoted to road master and in September, 1947 retired from working.

Finding it monotonous not having any work to do, he took up the salesmanship of the Watkins Products which he enjoyed for the past year.

Surviving are his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Milton Harnack and Mrs. Edward Stassen of New Lenox; Mrs. Lowell Stassen of Lansing, Ill.; two sons, Harold of Joliet and Milton of New Lenox; four grandchildren, three brothers, Frank of Chicago Heights, Peter of Homewood and Ernest of New Lenox and two sisters, Mrs. Lula Staufenberg and Mrs. Fred Woodcock both of New Lenox.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon from the Sonntag funeral home at two o'clock with Rev. E. W. Frenk officiating. Burial will be in Elmhurst cemetery.

A letter of appreciation was sent to Mrs. William Hossbach for sewing Legion emblems on the Legion's basketball uniforms; the Post sent $5.00 to the Polio fund and also voted to give $5.00 to the Red Cross; a committee of two members to represent the Post, namely, Paul Lambrecht and Howard Osmus, were appointed by the Commander to meet with the other committees in order to make plans for a proposed community project. Funds were voted for this project with limitations held by the Post.

All Legion members will contact Conrad Mark to receive their quota of tickets for the coming car award to be held in conjunction with the annual homecoming.

Saturday evening, March 19, the first annual tournament sponsored by the American Legion started with Mokena defeating Ridgewood in the first game 64 to 32. In the second game, Frankfort started fast and held a good lead all through the game and finally defeated New Lenox 73 to 60.

In the finals Sunday evening, March 20, the New Lenox Gremlins defeated Ridgewood 57 to 36 to take third place. In the Championship game between Mokena and Frankfort, the Mokena team held a good lead all thru the game until part way through the third quarter when the Frankfort Legion team went ahead with two quick baskets by K. Oetter and C. Warning. Frankfort held a three to five point lead from the beginning of the fourth quarter until with two minutes left to play, the Legion team began to stall and Mokena became desperate, playing and guarding close, thus picking up a few fouls. The Frankfort Legion team kept taking it out at mid-court instead of shooting the charity toss until W. Hossbach threw a pass under the basket to K. Oetter who put it in for a 49 to 44 win over Mokena.

After the game, Athletic Director Kenneth L. Oetter of the Bobzin-Swinford Post 1098, sponsor of the tournament and league, presented awards to the various teams. For the 1948-49 season in league competition Mokena was awarded the first place trophy and New Lenox received the second place trophy. Fares To be Cut From Joliet to Chicago

The reduction in fares requested by the three railroads entering Joliet, does not effect the villages and cities on the Rock Island railroad from Mokena east.

When the railroads received their increase in fares last December 23, which they requested from the Illinois Commerce Commission, it amounted to some more than the 2c per mile allowed by the State law. Since December 23, a 10 ride ticket from Joliet to Chicago costs $8, and the reduction will bring it to $7.40.

But as there is a tax on fares and tickets that cover 30 miles or more, leaves Mokena and the other towns east into Chicago free of tax, there for a 10 ride ticket from Mokena to Chicago will remain as it is now, $6.00.

It is expected that the new charge reduction will become effective by April 10, for Joliet and New Lenox.

On the customary "Town Ticket", James Frazer is running for Supervisor; Clarence Weis for Town Clerk; George Bump, Jr. for Assessor; George Ott for school trustee, and Charles Sievert and Ralph Reiter Sr., for justices of the peace. Do not fail to show your preference by voting.

The Junior Class of Orland Park Community high school will present their performance of "The Sunshine Twins" at the Orland Park high school gymnasium Saturday evening, April 9 at 8:00 o'clock. Tickets may now be procured from any member of the junior class.

Karl Smith and Arthur Adams have been assigned the leading roles, but equally important are Lillie Lang as Norma, Gloria Gee as Tobe, Natalie Terrell as Mrs. Ellis who has a green house for sale and Floyd Rauch as the millionaire in love with Norma. Other members of the cast are Evelyn Sayers and Ray Estand, who ably portray the roles of father and mother; Charles Peterson in the role of a very "progressive" brother; Harold Rogers as the timid brother-in-law who learns to roar; and Barbara Talmage as a Hollywood talent scout.

HOW TO SHOOT A RIFLE

By ARTHUR E. COOK
National and Olympic Rifle Champion

Sighting

Gun sights are used to point the rifle at the target and it is important to learn to sight perfectly. An error of 1/10 inch in sight alignment will place the bullet two inches from the center of a target only 50 feet away—a bad miss.

If you have the rear peep and front post sight combination on your rifle, aim as shown at top left, centering the top of the post in the peep hole. With an open rear sight (right above) center the top of the post on a level with the top of the rear sight before directing the aim on the target. Notice that when shooting at bullseye targets you aim at the bottom of the bull rather than at the center. That is because you are likely to lose sight of the black post within the black bullseye.

Aiming and shooting at bullseye targets is not only a great sport with many thousands of adherents throughout the world, but it is also the finest training for any kind of shooting. If you can't hit a bullseye that is standing still how can you expect to hit a live target that is moving?

(This instruction based on the booklet, "HOW TO SHOOT A RIFLE," published by The National Rifle Association, Washington, D. C.)

that we didn't have in 1920 which make a serious price break unlikely." Dr. L. J. Norton adds: "I didn't think 60 days ago that we were facing the postwar shift in farm prices. But later events force me to this new opinion. The evidence is that all staple farm products except wool are now below their peak levels."

Simerl lists several shock absorbers that should soften any price recession. The government will now repay full par value in cash to any owner holding part of the $250 billion in government bonds. After World War I the government would not pay out cash for bonds until they matured.

Also, if we should have a recession, the government would spend heavily and taxes would drop. In addition, farmers and labor now want high wages and high prices rather than "sound money" as in 1920.

Present farm price support laws are another strong shock absorber in checking extreme drops in farm prices, Simerl adds. So are the probably large outlays for national defense.

On the other hand, Norton points out that farm prices are vulnerable. Food production is about one-third larger than prewar, while population is up less than one-sixth.

"Present large exports will be likely to decline," Norton predicts, "as a result of better supplies abroad and a shortage of dollars. Only the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) holds up the effective demand in the export market."

Clean, new corn is not toxic when fed to poultry, but a gradual change from old to new corn is advisable.

Sheep with jaws of unequal length are not such good producers of meat and wool as are normal sheep.

Economists Discuss Recent Price Breaks

The recent price breaks in farm products are not expected to burst into a price collapse like 1920. But farmers are facing a postwar readjustment in prices which means a lower level clear across the board.

That's the combined judgment of two farm economists in the Illinois College of Agriculture.

Says Larry Simerl: "Frankly, I don't expect prices to drop as they did in 1920. There are many conditions now

POLITICIANS CLAIMS DE-BUNKED

In a letter to Walter C. Dohl, the Republican Township committeeman, which is reproduced in an adjoining column, John Leonard East, Chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Cook County, denies that there are two Republican organizations in Bremen Township. Walter C. Dohl is the only Republican Party Manager for Bremen Township and his "BREMEN TOWNSHIP REPUBLICAN CLUB" is the only Republican organization recognized by the Central Committee.

Four years ago a group of politicians tried to split the Republicans of Bremen Township into two groups, but their plan failed at the polls. They had built a ticket around a former Republican Township Clerk, but Republicans, loyal to their Party, wrecked the scheme.

They are now making a second try, using the Republican Township Assessor and the Republican Highway Commissioner as the vote snaring bait. Knowing that their so called 'Bremen Township Regular Organization' has no standing as such, since they have no elected township committeeman as provided for by statute, they have made a "back room deal" and sold out to the Regular Democratic Organization, and have placed themselves under the leadership of Harry Clarke, the elected Democratic Committeeman.

The Democratic Committeeman did not call a caucus of his party. Instead, a "ONE PARTY" ticket was formed called a coalition, to make room for these newcomers into his organization.

Hon. Walter C. Dohl, Committeeman
Bremen Township
147th & Francisco Avenue
R. F. D. Harvey, Illinois

Dear Walter:

Some Republican citizens of Bremen Township have asked me to clarify a situation existing in your Township, which I may add, prevails in other Townships of our County, concerning the legality of Republican representation.

By Statute, the Republican Central Committee of Cook County is created to be the managing body of Republican affairs in the County. This Committee, as you well know, consists of 80 members, one from each of our 30 Townships and one from each of our 50 Wards, who are elected by Republican voters as Committeeman for that political sub-division every four years. A Committeeman, so elected, becomes the Republican Party Manager of that district and there is no other officially recognized Republican entity save that of the Committeeman and his Organization - whatever name he may choose to call his Organization.

We know that your Organization, the only officially constituted Organization, is known as "Bremen Township Republican Club", and, of course, holding the certificate that you do, which you received in 1946, the officers and members of the managing body known as "The Republican Central Committee of Cook County" must give full recognition to you and to your Organization.

Sincerely,

John Leonard East
Chairman

Farmers Get Small Share of Prices

The following, supplied us by Mr. Fred Pfingsten, Schaumburg, from a farmers cooperative magazine is revealing:

"If the farmer gave away the wheat for a 16c loaf of bread, the bread would still cost the consumer 14.7c.

If he gave the wool free for a $50 suit, the suit would still cost $44.30.

If he gave away the hide for a $10 pair of shoes, they would still cost the consumer $8.63.

If the farmer gave away the livestock for $10 worth of meat, it would still cost $4.90 in the butcher shop.

If he gave away the tobacco for a 20c pack of cigarettes, it would still cost 17.6c.

If he gave away the beans for a 10c can of beans, they would still cost 8.8c. Incidentally, it would cost about 14c to put a milk bottle full of water on your door step."

The Low Down

Kansas, you sisters and brothers elsewhere, take heed. Out there in the old Sunflower state, in that land of wheat, rolling vistas, horse sense, and grand people, there is a plan on foot to get its citizens back to 100 per cent self-reliance and self-respect. They are going to try to do something about it before Kansas turns out to be just another softie where, on the flimsiest excuse, everybody can sit in the shade and ring up the Uplift Agent or however he is listed in the phone book, and ask the guy to send out the groceries, or the dole, or the pension, and right away.

Where is the old rugged American eagerness to take off its coat and feed and care for its household? It is slipping, says Kansas. So out there, in the legislature, is a proposed bill requiring every grown and able-bodied Jayhawker son and daughter to come to the aid of their parents when and if their mom or their pop should need help. Now, would say Confucius, "Kansas is on the front burner."

In every State, as on the rollicksome Potomac, the contest is on—who can think up the most novel way to spend or give away the most, the quickest. But most people are agin the cuckoo ideas—but do nothing about it, tell your Governor—tell everybody, down to the Mayor. Tell 'em about Kansas.

Yours with the low-down,
JOE SERRA

American 'Know How' Aids In Development of Nations

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON—When the various departments of the government began to gather data for the President to be used as the basis for preliminary legislation for his "bold new program" of establishing the machinery of world cooperation for the development of undeveloped countries, it was a surprise to many to learn that many of these agencies are by no means starting from scratch.

The department of agriculture of course, has had the longest and most successful record in this line—a good 10 years. In 1939 it had become all too evident that in a world where the free flow of trade was threatened by rising anti-democratic hegemonies, we had to look to our nearer neighbors for many things which we did not produce at home, and which they could, but did not, produce themselves.

Congress was quite willing to authorize the department of agriculture to lend some of its technicians to other countries and to help such countries to set up agricultural stations for the purpose of putting American techniques into action.

BAUKHAGE

For those who may have questioned the expenditure in this connection, there is some satisfaction in noting that the experiment paid, from the standpoint of all concerned including the peoples of the countries involved. On the average the United States puts out one dollar for each three dollars spent by the other countries. In 1943 Latin American countries were expending $500,000. In 1948 they invested $1,178,000.

The countries in which the stations are located, an official of the department explained, supplies "land, buildings, associate technicians, office and service personnel, equipment and supplies available within the country, and funds for operating expenses." The United States supplies the "know-how" and the specialized equipment necessary.

The plan pays out, the department explains, this way. Assistance in raising crops such as cocoa, coffee, certain fibres, medical plants, tea and rubber, has increased the revenue from them. They are products in demand in this country, we don't or can't raise. The dollars they earn are turned into many manufactured products which these countries purchase from us.

In the last special report issued by the American military government on the Licensed Press of Germany, we have an example of another type of experience which the United States has had in attempting to provide the "know-how" for a foreign nation.

Some of the seeds which have been planted and which it is hoped will grow, thanks to the application of American techniques, are those which should produce a free and democratic press in Germany.

It would be somewhat rash to try to teach the Germans all about the publishing business. After all Gutenberg, who invented printing, was a German, and ever since his time the Germans have taken the lead in many of the mechanical processes connected with the publishing business. But when the American occupation forces moved in, there was nothing that resembled a free press in Germany, and if there had been it hardly could have flourished under the conditions which then existed. Even today the best we can expect is a "nearly free press" and that is what it admittedly is.

In the United States zone and in Berlin there are now 56 newspapers licensed by the United States. These papers own a cooperatively-operated news agency. These publications are not, and never have been, "pre-censored." They are carefully read by the military government officials, and some have been suspended, after warning. But these occasions have been few.

The mission of the military government in the field of the press, as planned and applied to date, has for its first point:

"To help democratically-minded and trustworthy German publishers and editors to build an objective, free, democratic press in the U. S. Zone in Germany and to prevent the resurgence of Nazism, militarism, racism, pan-Germanism, or nationalism in the newspaper and news agency field."

The special report explains that controls which were imposed when the papers were first established in order to conserve scarce materials, supplies, and equipment and in order to train editors, publishers, and journalists in the tradition of a democratic, free press have been progressively lifted so that for two years at least the U. S. zone has had a "nearly" free press. The eventual goal has been from the start an absolutely free press to the extent that this condition obtains in the United States and Great Britain.

References to diseases resembling undulant fever are found in the writings of Hippocrates (460-357 B. C.)

in or other democratic countries. What have been the results? In the view of the military government:

"Democratically-minded and trustworthy German editors and publishers have established a solid core of independent and democratic newspapers in the U. S. area of occupation. They have been encouraged to maintain their independence and objectivity against all attacks and to resist the encroachment of government or of other special interest groups and protect their right to bring the news of Germany and the world to the people of Germany and to comment upon it."

The question that remains, however, is this: when the controls and the existing regulations are removed, will the Germans graduate from a "nearly free press" which the Americans have encouraged to a genuinely free press which Americans consider an essential of democracy? Will the Germans, who for centuries have accepted control and regimentation from above, be able to start out afresh and make use of the democratic techniques to which we have attempted to expose them?

That is one kind of "know-how" it is hard to pass on.

Haylift Whips Winter Blizzards

The winter storms which attacked the range country and presented what looked for awhile like a major tragedy to the cattle industry didn't turn out to be as bad as some people feared, but it might have been considerably worse if it hadn't been for what happened in the Pacific islands in World War II. The Japs used to say that the American's most terrible weapon was the bulldozer and, of course, the Sea-Bees wrote epic history on a clean slate. The same might be said of the air force, so far as the snowbound ranchers, especially those in Nevada were concerned. There the haylift took them over the first, worst hump of the storms.

The Great Plains always have furnished hazards unknown to other parts of the North American continent.

As C. Warren Thornwaite, soil conservation expert of the department of agriculture says of the Great Plains: "In a desert, you know what to expect of the climate and plan accordingly. The same is true of humid regions. Men have been badly fooled by the semi-arid regions because they are sometimes humid, sometimes arid, and sometimes a cross between the two. Yet it is possible to make allowances for this, too, once the climate is understood."

One of the worst blows in the winter storms was struck in the southwestern part of the area affected, southern Nevada and northern Arizona, where ordinarily there is all-winter feeding. There are low altitude ranges there which make it unnecessary, under normal conditions, to provide winter feed. When these were cut off there just wasn't any feed available.

The early settlers who struck west were suspicious of the plains. They didn't realize that the gama and the buffalo grass which covered those plains and provided plenty of sustenance for the millions of buffalo which roamed them unmolessted, could resist drought as efficiently as it does. For miles there would be no water in sight to the men in the prairie schooners, so they took for granted the land was not liveable and pushed on to the coast. The grass, as long as it was there—and the buffalo were good conservationists and didn't overgraze it—reduced the run-off after rains and prevented erosion. But the first adventurers had westward-ho written in their hats anyhow, and they headed toward the coast.

Then came the farmers. The cattlemen were driven further west, the plow broke the plains and dug the dust bowl.

But agriculture is a closer-knit industry now and it had many means of assistance besides the army upon which to draw to help combat the recent blizzards—help which the early plainsmen didn't have; the department of agriculture had its organization; the foresters had equipment easily pressed into service.

The Race Question

Lesson for March 27, 1949.

JESUS DID NOT know there was a race question. That is to say, there was no question for him, though he well knew that his neighbors found the race problem a hot one. All the germs of any race problem, even of race riots, were there in Palestine as in all of our world today.

First there was the feeling of racial superiority. Few, if any, peoples think of themselves as an inferior race. Nobody would mind being kicked around if he thought he deserved nothing better. The Jews, to which race Jesus belonged, were no exception to the rule. They felt themselves the superior of any race on earth.

Dr. Foreman

Two Sides of the Question

IN JESUS' time the Jew of Palestine was in the middle. The Romans, having conquered the land, were top-dog in Palestine. With the Romans, the Jews saw the under-side of the race question. But there were other races, much less pure than the Jews, races called "Canaanite" for want of a better name. These people were kicked around by the Jews, just as the Jews in turn were kicked around by the Romans. Looking at the Canaanites, the Jews saw the race question from the top side.

In Palestine the wounds of race quarrels were made worse by the vinegar of religious differences. In those days it was taken for granted: Different race, different religion.

Jesus' neighbors and relatives in Nazareth, like most Jews, supposed that God would favor only the "chosen people," namely themselves. So the Jew's resentment toward the Romans above him and his contempt of the Canaanites beneath him were made more bitter by his conviction that they would all end in hell except his own race.

What Jesus Did About It

THE TWO STORIES in our lesson (see the Scripture references) show the astonishingly simple way in which Jesus walked straight through those walls as if they did not exist. He passed no resolutions, denounced nobody; he simply treated all races alike. He helped the Roman army officer and the Canaanite woman precisely as if they had been Jews. (By the way, his remarks to that woman should not be misunderstood as rude. She did not take them that way. He spoke to her, we may well believe, with a smile, and she took him with equal good humor.) Jesus appreciated faith wherever he found it.

He was the last person to fancy that all human beings are alike. But he was the first to give all an equal chance. He took people as human beings, not as "Romans" or "Canaanites."

He neither cringed to the Romans nor bullied the Canaanites. He looked at all men and women with level eyes, seeing not their skins nor their clothes, but their hearts.

What We Can Do

OUR NORTH AMERICA is also criss-crossed by walls of prejudice — racial, political and religious. In Canada (for example) there is the friction between Canadians of French and those of English or Scotch descent; in the United States (not by any means confined to the South) between Negroes and white people, or between Japanese and white people; between the "old stock" and recent immigrants; and so on. Those walls look pretty solid; but a Christian will find that if he follows Jesus' example he can walk right through them. Last winter a national interdenominational organization challenged its 28 million members and through them the Christian world, with one of the most sweeping declarations of human rights ever drafted by an American church body.

Hitting at every type of discrimination — racial, political, social, economic, religious — the group has challenged the Church to work for the creation of a non-segregated society "as proof of their sincerity."

Yet the real breakdown of human prejudices, hatreds and contemptments with the injustices growing out of these, does not come at one stroke by resolutions. It comes only by degrees, as Christ-inspired individuals make their own bright doorways.

Miss Shirley Jungles was a weekend guest of her friend, Miss Phyllis Gustafson in Lockport.

Fred Trask of Lockport, who lived in Homer for many years, is very ill in Silver Cross hospital.

Guests of Mrs. Helen Rowley last Sunday were John Savage and Mrs. Edna Beadle of Joliet and Mrs. Adella Sprout and daughter Lois of Maple Rd.

Several people from here attended the wedding of Miss Jean Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barber of Joliet, to William Underwood of here, Sunday afternoon at the Second Presbyterian church Joliet. Following a honeymoon to Florida the young couple will reside on the Hobbs farm which the groom has been operating for some time.

About fifty fathers and sons gathered in Homer church dining room to enjoy the banquet and program prepared for them Friday evening. Following the dinner, the Rev. Harold Finley presided, with Robert Burch leading in group singing and also singing several solos with guitar accompaniment. The speakers were Robert and Richard Henke, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henke, Chinese missionaries who are well known here. Their talk on Chinese customs and affairs was extremely interesting.

The Missionary society will hold its March meeting Thursday, the 31st, in the home of Mrs. Guy Bump with Mrs. F. J. Paddock as assisting hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Wrey White accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Russel Sandburg of Joliet, attended a crippled children's benefit party at the Midland hotel ballroom, Chicago, last Sunday evening.

Death of Mrs. Michael Beaver
Mrs. Michael Beaver, 30, nee Elizabeth Dollinger, who has lived most of her life in Homer township, died at her home there Wednesday afternoon, March 16, after a short illness.

Mr. Beaver preceded her in death several years ago.

She is survived by three sons, Henry Albert, and Anthony and one daughter, Florence, all of Homer, and one sister, Emma Dollinger of Lockport.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9:30 a. m. from the Miller Funeral home, Lockport to St. Dennis church at 9:30 a. m. with burial in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bump were weekend guests of her daughter at Wheeling, Ill.

Louis Barr came from Blackburn college to attend the wedding of William Underwood. He will spend this week, which is spring vacation, in the Frank Milne home.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Vanderbilt of Peotone also came to the Barber-Underwood wedding.

Manure Worth $3.00 Ton in Large Yields

You'll get more feed from your pastures this year and save money, too, if you use your barnyard manure for fertilizer.

"Manure is worth about $3.00 a ton in increased crop yields," says C. S. Rhode, extension dairyman, Illinois College of Agriculture. "At this rate, 200 tons would be worth $600. If one-third of this—around 70 tons—is lost, you will be out $200."

Seventy tons of manure is enough to cover 11 acres of crop land with six tons to the acre, a pretty heavy covering.

How is the value of manure often lost? Suppose a farm produces 200 tons of manure a year. About 35 tons may be dropped in unpaved barnlots and feedlots, and 20 tons or more of this will be lost. Another 100 tons or so will be dropped in barns and sheds. But if this manure is piled outside, half of its fertility may leach out or be lost. That's 70 tons of manure wasted.

Only on pasture, where about 65 tons are dropped each year, does the fertility from manure get back into the soil with little loss.

Manured plots yield more than twice as much forage as unmanured plots, according to University dairy production department records. The manured grass also contains from 5 to 20 percent more protein than the untreated grass.

It is best to apply manure a few weeks before the cattle are turned out to pasture in the spring, and right after they have been taken from the pasture in the fall.

In addition to adding fertility to the soil, manure also helps prevent further leaching and erosion.

HOTSPRINGS AS A HEALTH RESORT

This is my second winter in Hot Springs. I don't think you can beat it in the wint country. The Government baths are excellent and the mineral water can be beat.

People there from all parts of the country with many complaints. If they go there, their bodies filled with tobacco, do and alcohol, they cannot expect to move as fast. Seven-fifty per cent of people get entirely well. A railroadman went there in 1933 from Pennsylvania. The rheumatism came back (him again). He went to Hot Springs and is now entirely well, and the picture of health at his age of 68. I is just one of many cases.

I am past years old and never went to a doc for treatment until I was past 77. I then had no aches or pains, just bored getting up nights. The local doctor told me then, without an X-ray examination, that I would have to be operated on, and said that I did not have to have it then, but would some time wait over a year and went to the hospital and had the operation without X-ray. The doctors told me I would have to be there two weeks, then I'd have to be careful a couple of k's. I stayed there 32 days and was no good. I insisted myself on going home and the sixth day healed and went to Mexico.

Later I returned had a stroke which I am thornly convinced I would not have had if I did not have the operation. I had eight months, then went to Mayo for a checkup and X-ray for five days showed stones in my bladder w/er they said had been forming there since I was bothered getting up nights. They took 13 stones out my bladder.

I have been to Springs, taking the baths and drink lots of mineral water and never felt in my life, except the effect of ch, which they can do nothing for.

May advise to every, is do not let any surgeon operate out first having a thorough examon and X-ray, to see if it is absolutely necessary, then if the operation could be avoided by eating and drinking.

Too much meat and coffee should be avoided. Coffee is likewise to me. If you don't feel good, out tobacco, alcohol and go to Horings, Ark., take the Government's, drink lots of mineral water and coffee are 90 to 1, you will get well prove.

Adv.
C. OLCORD.

Farmers intend to 114 percent more sows farrowing spring than last. With average-sizers, the pig crop would be up 12 cent from the spring of 1948.

Lutheran Hour

A retrial for Jesus Christ has been legally petitioned and should be granted, Dr. Walter A. Maier, Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., declared March 20 in the international broadcast of the Lutheran Hour. He called attention to the fact that a Dutch author, Groskamp, has petitioned the Israeli Supreme Court in Jerusalem to review the trial which condemned Christ nineteen hundred years ago. This petition maintained that the Sanhedrin, the court of Jesus' fellow countrymen, was not qualified to sit in judgment. Likewise, it denies the jurisdiction of Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor, in according to the request for the death sentence. Maintaining that the Israeli Supreme Court has the jurisdiction to review this trial, Dr. Maier joined Groskamp as asserting this tribunal also has the moral duty to reverse the decision which sent Christ to the cross. While the chief of the Israeli Supreme Court Moshe Smoira, has announced that he will withhold action on this petition until more evidence is submitted, he radio speaker urged his hearers, including non-Christians, to review the Gospel records of this trial and to declare Christ, the innocent victim of prejudice and perjury.

Dr. Maier also announced the extension of the Lutheran Hour broadcast. He declared that Bringing Christ to the Nations, the most wide-spread broadcast of the world, now sends its messages into fifty countries and territories with the Canary Islands added last week. Besides the Lutheran Hour message now uses two new languages in spreading the Gospel. These are Indonesian, the speech of millions in the East Indies and, Telegu, the tongue of many more millions in the South India. Altogether this makes eighteen languages in which the gospel of Christ crucified and resurrected is now being broadcast on the Lutheran Hour. Other important additions, Dr. Maier stated, will soon be announced.

Selling School Lands

Extensive School reorganization in Illinois has caused directors to raise questions about the sale and disposition of school property that is no longer needed. Illinois statutes give districts this power. The law states that when "...in the opinion of the school board, a school site, building, or site with building, or any other real estate, has become unnecessary for the uses of the district, the board, on petition signed either by not fewer than three hundred voters of the district, or by five percent of the voters, shall call an election to decide whether or not the property shall be sold."

If a majority of the votes cast on the proposition are favorable, the directors notify the township school trustees of the election results and of the terms on which they wish to sell the property. The trustees then publish notice of the sale as required by law and conduct a public sale of the lands.

A deed is signed by the president and clerk of the trustees and given to the purchaser. Proceeds of the sale go to the township treasurer for the benefit of the district.

If the site is within the boundaries of another school district, and the latter district desires the site, it may for compensation be transferred from one district to the other by the trustees.

Provision is also made for sale to another school district or other municipality, in which case a public sale is not required. Instead the school board fixes a price by resolution and calls an election in the district on the question of selling to the other district at the figure on the ballot.

Statutory provisions on the sale of school lands apply only if the district has title to the property. In many instances land was conveyed to a district under conditions which cause it to remit to the original grantor, his heirs or assigns, when it is no longer used for school purposes. Each district must determine whether its land is held in this manner, and if so, whether or not the original conditions still hold.

There are 110 pages in the book and covers virtually all insects, fungi and other pests and diseases on all kinds of plant life. There are 300 illustrations, most of them drawings by Alma W. Froderstrom, formerly of the American Museum of Natural History. The page size is 5 1/2 by 8 1/4.

The book will be mailed in single copies to any individual upon the receipt of two dimes, to cover actual cost and handling. Send to Sherwin-Williams Company, Agricultural Chemicals Division, 101 Prospect Avenue, NW, Cleveland, 1, Ohio. NOT to this paper's office.

We are glad to pass this offer to our subscribers, as after looking through the book, we found it a valuable article of needed information. As there are only 500,000 of the books printed, send for a copy at once, if it is wanted.

Washington Digest GOP Tries to Face Facts: Changes Are Sure to Come

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON—I don't want to get into semantics but I have to say something about the word "conservative", purely as a word, if I am going to discuss some of the undersurface terms in Washington recently.

If it is fair to define a conservative as a person who has something to conserve, and I think the American people are naturally conservative in that sense, when you take away that something, Americans will join the radicals or anybody else to win back what was taken away.

The majority of the people don't want a free lunch. They just want a chance to earn enough to pay for their own lunch. But if they can't get lunch any other way, they'll take it how and where they can get it. That is a lesson which certain conservatives (in the political sense) are learning slowly.

BAUKHAGE
Day dinner that if the GOP tried to go back to the 20's, it would become the "deadest pigeon in the country."

The burden of his theme was that the party was split wide apart and it had better get together, slough off one extreme element which wants to "turn the clock back" and the other extremists who want to "out-promise the Democrats." He demanded that the party stand for "social progress under a flourishing system of private enterprise where every human right is expanded." Those opposed to "liberal and progressive policies" should get out of the party.

Here again we run into semantics—what is "progressive," what is "liberal"—for that matter, what is Sylvia? To one an owl, to another a nightingale. To the pinks, a "liberal" is a reactionary. To the conservative a "liberal" is a red.

Dewey said that the Republican party (or the party as he sees it) believes in "unemployment insurance, old age assistance on an increased basis, in broader social security generally, in slum clearance, in public development of our water resources, in farm price supports, in vigorous protection of the rights of labor."

And he seems to recognize that all of us, Republicans included, will have to take certain things for granted. Certain social and political changes which we may not like any more than our grandfathers liked a lot of "new-fangled" ideas they met with, like the safety razor, say.

The federal reserve board, the income tax, women's suffrage—all were once considered little less than the instruments of the devil himself by a lot of people who never think twice about them now. What policy the federal reserve board follows is debatable by either political party, but nobody would be fool enough to try to eliminate the board as an institution. Both parties claim they invented it.

The size of the income tax, and how it's distributed is also a matter to be settled by the party in power, but I can't quite see anybody trying to eliminate income taxes entirely. Other matters like the principles of government regulation of interstate commerce, of old age and unemployment insurance and dozens of other activities seem to be here for good.

If I am a Red for saying that, you can measure me for a suit of long underwear to match, tuck me into the one-hoss-shay and send me home.

As a matter of fact I am really pretty much of a moss-back. Although I'd trade in my used airplane for a rocket, if anybody has a survey with the fringe on top and I had a place to park it, that's what I'd really prefer.

Mention of Taft Evokes Criticism

One can't discuss the Republican party without mentioning Mr. Taft. And whenever I say anything good on the air about Sen. Robert A. Taft, I get letters like the following from a man in Lakewood, New York (I had in the same broadcast described a truck-driver who nearly ran over me):

"I can see a picture of you," he writes, "looking down your long nose at that truck driver and believe me, I know just exactly how you felt towards him. However, I wonder which is the most dangerous, an idiot with a truck or an idiot with a vast radio audience."

"You see, I look down my long nose at you just as you did the truck driver and I have the advantage of having heard a few thousand of your broadcasts. Through this medium I have explored your brain and believe me I find not much there. Your speaking of the truck driver as well as Taft's intelligence is a fair measure of your own. . . ."

This was my answer: "Dear Sir: I have your letter saying that you wonder which is the most dangerous, the truck driver I referred to or an idiot with a vast radio audience—and also that you have heard me a few thousand times. I am glad to note we have so much in common."

My reference to Taft which so infuriated the letter-writer was in connection with an implication that Senator Taft is the Republican party in the Senate as it exists today. This situation may change, though there are no present indications it will. Taft rides the elephant, regardless of who happens to play the callopie.

And paradoxically enough it will be Senator Taft, the strongest figure in the senate, arch-Republican, symbol of reaction to his enemies, who probably will be a powerful factor in the enactment of more than one of the so called "social-service" laws which are a vital part of the administration program. Housing and federal aid to education are two measures which might be named. And although the Taft-Hartley act will have a new name, the imprint of its senatorial sponsor will not be entirely eradicated from its structure when it comes out of the hopper.

Taft was able to drag out the labor bill hearings for two weeks longer than was originally planned, and I would not be surprised if these lines appear in print before his gently-led filibuster against the repeal is over, or at least long over. But that does not mean Taft or his party controls the senate.

As this was written a theory was abroad that the Republican strategy had developed to the point where, if the party would keep its "young Turks" in line—the so-called liberal Republican senators who tried and so dismally failed to curb Taft's power—they could count on enough votes of the southern senators on most controversial issues (unless these issues step on the toes of southern tradition) to wrest control from the Democrats.

In fact, the expounders of this theory were only a little while ago pointing to defeat of the bill to exempt the tax on the inauguration as proof that the fate of the Democrats in the senate was a pretty dark one. They explained it was symptomatic when 41 Republicans voted against the measure, and found to their surprise and pleasure that they were able to get six Democrats to join them, thus providing a majority and defeating the measure.

That made things look very simple. But there is another side to that story. That vote backfired and hurt the Republicans more than it helped. It did more than a little to create Democratic solidarity, and the really deep-dishers on Capitol Hill are predicting that the Democrats are going to achieve enough unanimity from now on to maintain their majority on major issues. There will be, of course, matters where members of both parties will desert because the issue involved is such that the particular state or area from which the senator comes has an interest which conflicts with the majority of his party.

There will be some issues in which Democrats will join Republicans as well as vice versa. And, as I said earlier, there are some things that don't appear on the surface.

The burden of the attack against the Democrats, whether you call them New Dealers, Fair Dealers, or Trumanites, is that they seek government control of business.

Now I believe most Republican leaders have the brains to admit (and if they haven't they can expect to be defeated, just as the liberals and conservatives were beaten in England) that the best way to kill government control—the antithesis of free enterprise because it is government monopoly—is to kill private monopoly. The latter is a two-edged sword against free enterprise. First, private monopoly kills competition. Second, it opens the way to government ownership.

Today the intelligent leaders on the GOP have to admit what I am sure they believe at heart, namely, that they will have to let the federal government do certain things for the people, if private enterprise can't or won't do those things. Taft as well as the young Turks, know that. They also know that private monopoly breeds state control.

Evanson and Wilmette are to be open with the local garden clubs planning the day. The annual Garden fair of the Garden club of Evanston in Chandler park will be held that day.

Sunday, May 22, the visitors will see five of the fine farms in Lake County. This is to be a day of education in good farm practices. Dairies, barns, greenhouses will be open and conservation practices explained. Neighboring garden clubs will have charge of the day's program.

Garden clubs affiliated with The Garden Club of Illinois throughout the state are working toward the success of Illinois Garden Week, the latest undertaking of this ambitious and civic minded group, who have, through the past 24 years, presented the Chicago Flower show, which, because of the lack of an adequate exhibition space, has had to be suspended. They hope, through Illinois Garden Week, to bring to everyone a realization of the great beauty of the Illinois country, examples of good gardening, sound farm practices, and fine flower arrangements effectively placed in interior settings—a greater love and appreciation of the natural beauty of their surroundings.

Daily tour tickets, which include all the houses, gardens or farms as listed for that day are surprisingly inexpensive and may be obtained from local garden clubs.
